Findings of the International Commission Officially Signed.

THE CANADIANS ARE SULKING.

They Refuse to Attach Their Sig natures and Submit a Statement of Their Reasons For Withholding Them.

London Oct. 21.-In consequence of the attitude maintained by the Canadian commissioners, Lord Chief Justice Alverstone decided, Tuesday morning, not to hold the proposed public meeting of the Alaskan boundary commission, but to hand its decision to Messrs. Foster and Sifton, respectively agents of the American and Canadian governments.

The Canadian commissioners no only declined to sign the award, but said they would publicly withdraw from the commission. They, as well as the Canadians connected with the case, are very bitter.

All Signatures Affixed Except Those of the Canadians.

London, Oct. 21.-The engrossed copy of the Alaskan award was signed at 2:10 p m. The Canadians declined to sign the award, as previously cables.

The award relating to the Portland channel gives the United States two Kannaghunut and Sitklan islands commanding the entrance of the Portland channel and the ocean passage to Simpson, thus destroying the strategic value of Wales and Pearse islands, which are given to Canada.

The mountain line adopted as the boundary line so far from the coast as to give the United States substantially all the territory. The line completely clears all the bays and inlets, and means of access to the sea, giving the United States a complete barrier batween Canada and the sea, from Portland channel to Mount St. Elias. Around the head of the Lynn canal the line follows the watershed, somewhat in accordance with the present provisional boundary.

The sentiment during the whole day has been feared further trouble. Another incident that gave confidence was an inquiry from the treasury department at banks needed assistance.

Rumors Affecting James L. Blair, of St. Louis, Take Form.

SEVERE SHOCK TO HIS FRIENDS

ame Honored in Missouri Now Coupled With Offenses Which, If Substantiated, Will Prove Its Undeing.

St. Louis, Oct. 25.-For the past few weeks rumors have been current affecting the probity of James L. Blair, former law partner of Judge James A. Seddon, former police commissioner and former general counsel for the World's fair company. These rumors have been persistently denied by the friends of the gentleman named, and one newspaper publisher who had the temerity to pullish them by laucado was threatened with prosecution for criminal libel.

The story revealed almost staggers belief, involving, as it does, forgeries, embezzlement and breaches of trust covering about $400,000, much of which has been dissipated in paying interest on forged notes, premiums on enormous life insurance policies and extravagant living.

The Globe-Democrat gives the following synopsis of a story that takes up the greater portion of two pages of that journal:

"The history of James L. Blair's methods in the handling of trust funds, and the story of how he is alleged to Union bank, of New Holland, O., is have secured hundreds of thousands of under arrest here for embezzlement. dollars by inducing Philadelphia bank- He disappeared from the bank on Auers to accept bogus deeds of trust as genuine, or by misappropriating trust funds was narrated in detail to the October grand jury yesterday. Among the allegations against him were the utof title, the issuing of bogus deeds of search has been made for him in all trust, and the embezzlement of funds by trustee.

"The aggregate amount of his alleged crooked dealings was given as $403,300. Of this amount, $340,000 was said to have been taken by him from Dick Bros. & Co., bankers, of Philadelphia, Pa., for whom he acted as loan justice. He went to Mexico, but falled agent, and $63,300 is alleged to have been taken from the Blow trust estate, for whom he acted as trustee.

"In both instances Mr. Blair is said to have confessed and to have offered to make restitution. "His operations are said to have extended over a period of about ten years, and at a time when he was taking a prominent part in demanding reforms of various kinds. Those whom he is alleged to have wronged placed the utmost confidence in his integrity. reputation for honesty, and were inexpressibly shocked when the news was conveyed to them that they were losers thereby. It was hard for them to believe that ther had been mistaken in Mr. Blair, yet they were furnished with press, after his arrest, Brown exevidence to substantiate the charges, and were forced to admit the awful

"As to our position on the subject Globe-Democrat and to the grand jury, of the heads of inlets, it has apparentis a revelation which will seen almost beyond belief to many who have known him and his reputation during that grand jury with what were declared circles, was treasurer of the Masonic Attorney James T. Roberts, who has an office in the Odd Fellows' building, prominent organization, clerk of the and who was formerly in the employ of Mr. Blair in the latter's office. "Mr. Roberts was before the inquisatorial body five hours. It required that length of time to hear the details of his story. That the jurors were interested is evidenced by the fact that they held him so long, not even adjourning for lunch. "The story was highly dramatic When the Dick brothers were first told of the alleged crookedness of Mr. Blair. who is their relative, they absolutely declined to believe it, Roberts said. Proof, it is said, was shown them, and then one of them hurried to St. Louis with a Philadelphia lawyer to ascertain what he could relative to the startling charges.

"Evans R. Dick, the story is told, confronted Mr. Blair in his office and accused him, whereupon, it is claimed. Blair readily confessed, in the presence of Dick's attorney, and promised to make restitution and lead a better life. The attorney, it is alleged, desired to prosecute, but the client, the man who is said to have suffered the heavy loss, declared that he would give the accused an opportunity to redeem him-

Blow Estate Matter.

"According to Roberts' story, Herbert Wadsworth, husband of Mrs. Marof the Maryland and Union companies tha Blow Wadsworth, one of the beneficiaries of the Blow trust estate, hurried across the country from New York optimistic, and in the closing hours in response to a message that it was there was evidently not a member who suspected that Mr. Blair, as co-trustee of the estate, had dissipated securities amounting to more than $80,000.

Mr. Wadsworth, too, is said to have Washington asking if the national confronted Mr. Blair with accusations that he had abused the trust imposed in him, and again, it is said, Mr. Blair admitted the facts and pleaded for a chance to repay the amount of the alleged embezzlement.

In telling the story, Attorney Roberts omitted none of the details. He unearthed the evidence, it is claimed, that resulted in Mr. Blair being dropped as the agent here for Dick Bros. & Co., and which forced him to resign as cotrustee of the Blow trust estate, the latter shortage, it is said, being made up by friends.

Mr. Roberts was the only witness yesterday in the Blair case before the grand jury.

"As the alleged forgeries and other misdeeds were committed more than three years ago, the statute of limitations will apply to the case and prohibit prosecution.

What Became of Money. "The people are probably interested in knowing what became of the vast sums of money that Mr. Blair is accused of having got away with during the last few years. Mr. Blair is currently reported as carrying life insurance that costs him $20,000 annually.

He also had to pay the interest, as it fell due, on the bogus loans, otherwise his crime would have been discovered long ago. With the amount of the Blow estate, $63,300, and that of the Dick matter, $340,000, the total embezzlement would reach $403,000. Five per cent. on this would amount to $20,-000 annually. Add to this family expenditures of about $25,000 a year, and you have a total annual outlay of about $65,000. It is hardly believed that, running over a period of seven years, his income from his law practice was averaging more than $20,000 a year. That would make the net deficit every year about $45,000, or, in the last seven years, about $215,000. He bought his country home from Mrs. Georgia Myers Coppell, in 1898, giving $30,000 for the place, and expending a like amount in improvements. The furnishings of the house, which are elegant and are in splendid taste, are said to have cost him $40,000. This would account for almost $400,000 of the defalcation, to say nothing of his losses on the stock market, which, it is alleged, were considerable." Denies Roberts' Statements. James L. Blair denounces Mr. Robers statements, as outlined above, as a tissue of falsehood woven about a few grains of fact. He denounces Roberts as an ingrate, whom he, for years, supported out of pure charity, and asks that the public suspend judgment, pending a judicial determination as to their truth or falsity.

Chicago, Oct. 25.-A plan whereby all, or nearly all, of the Methodist educational institutions in the country may be united under one general supervising body of directors, with North western university as the head and front, has been disclosed by President Edmund as the head of Northwestern. As evidence that the smaller institutions are ready for such a union Prestdent James declares that already two colleges have asked to be taken under the protection and management of Northwestern university, while the university has already annexed two preparatory schools-the Elgin academy and the Grand Prairie seminary of

CLARENCE BARNES FOUND NOT GUILTY

The First Ballot Was Unanimous and in Favor of Acquittal.

PATHETIC SCENES IN COURT

The Defendant and His Wife, Who Sat Side by Side During the Trial, Cried Like Children and Audience Was Deeply Moved.

Troy, Mo., Oct. 24.-Clarence A.

Barnes was acquitted Friday of the cnarge of murdering Representative

Rhodes Clay at Mexico, Mo., in August, 1902. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty at 4:55 o'clock Friday afternoon after being out 48 minutes. The jurors agreed on the first ballott. A tap on the jury room door told that the jurymen were anxious to return the verdict. A path was made for the jurors through the center aisle

Horatio Humphrey handed the verdict to Judge Shelton, who read: "We, the jury, find the defendant not guilty as charged." Cheer after cheer greeted the decision. So demonstrative were the people in the court room that it was several minutes before Judge Shelton restored order. The judge reprimanded the spectators severely for their conduct. A sigh of relief escaped Mrs. A. C. Barnes and her daughter, Irma, mother and sister of the defendant, as the verdict was read. Then they burst into tears. Clarence Barnes, too, was happy, and in the space of a few minutes he had shaken hands with perhaps fifty of his friends, who rushed to congratulate him.

Col. Clay walked up and down the pavement in front of the courthouse during the time the jury was out. The verdict reached him through one of the attorneys for the state. It is said that it affected him greatly and was a severe disappointment.

Before the case was submitted to the jury Friday afternoon, the case had tne appearance of a funeral instead of a cold court trial. The audence wep as well as the defendant and his faithful little wife at his side, and Col Green Clay, the hoary-headed father of the deceased representative.

The first sad scene was when Attorney Woolfolk for the state told of his association with the brilliant young representative in the state legislature, and what a generous and reliable public servant he was, and as he held up the dead man's coat, he said: "Although Rhodes Clay's mouth is closed forever, and his body lies under the sod of his own county, yet the three ghastly holes in this coat tell the story of his murder."

The old father wept bitterly, and Barnes' friends sympathtized with him, although they think it was a case of self-defense. Another equally sad scene, if not more so, was the closing argument of Frank Jesse, for the defense. He told the beautiful story of Ruth and Naomi, and said he could see Clarence Barnest going to bis faithful little wife the evening of their wedding last June, on the very day he was indicted for the murder, and entreating her to remain with her mother, but no, like Naomi, she chose his God and his fate, although it might be a felon's cell. The defendant and his wife, who sat side by side, cried like children, and tne audience seemed deeply moved.

WHOLESALE PRISON RELEASE

Under a Decision of Michigan Su preme Court Nearly 100 Conviets Will Be Released.

Jackson, Mich., Oct. 24,-Under a de cision handed down Friday by the state supreme court nearly 100 prisoners in the state prison here will be released at once. John Harney, a prisoner under a ten years' sentence for burglary, should have been released some weeks ago if allowed his "good time," but the prison officials claimed that he was a third-termer and not entitled to "good time."

Harney carried the case to the su preme court, where it was held that sentences Harney had served in the state reformatory at Ionia for assault and battery should not be reckoned against him in deciding his claim for good time.

The supreme court coincided in this view. The decision will give a number of other convicts good time and result, the prison officials say, in the release of nearly 100.
